Executive Overview

Pluto Trade founded since 2012 has been an offline stocks trading company available. As we kept growing we finally created the pluto-trade platform to bring our services online and reach out globally. Pluto-trade.com platform was launched in January 4th, 2018, all trades placed during every hour. Since going live, the Pluto Trade AI has not closed a day with a negative profit from total sales. Past results not indicative of future performance. All trading involves risk. Only invest as much as you are willing to lose.

Setting ambitious goals, we are guided by experience, the latest technology and common sense. Aware of all the new times challenges and risks, we look confidently to the future, and it is DeFi.

Big Data technologies are needed to effectively predict a cryptocurrency pair behaviour, make transactions on exchanges a dozen and take into account the data vast amounting their dynamic behaviour.

In order to make farming easier and more accessible, we used new innovative technologies such as—neural network, natural language processing, deep learning and fuzzy logic.

We have already managed to achieve the best interaction between networks, increased by times the bet's liquidity and stimulation, so we are ready to offer low commissions for our new friends.

We are constantly evolving and offering only the best and proven solutions.

FAQS

2023

Frequently asked questions

How does the Pluto Trade AI work?

The Pluto Trade AI is a software program that uses advanced algorithms and trading analysis tools to automatically execute trades on behalf of the user. The bot has the ability to analyze market conditions and identify profitable trades, based on technical indicators such as RSI, MACD, and Fibonacci Retracement, among others.

Where is Pluto Trade company Located?

We are registered in USA. Registered address is 374 William S Canning Blvd, Fall River MA 2721, USA. Users can register and trade/participate from/in any country.

How is Pluto Trade AI different from other stock trading bots?

Pluto Trade AI is fully built through the use of a proprietary, custom Generative Pre-trained Transformer which was trained with more than 100,000 pages of content on the topic of trading and related subjects – books, articles, case studies, even transcripts from conference keynotes. This allows our Artificial Intelligence model a level of expertise realistically unattainable by a human being.

This, in combination with our platform that grants users direct access to the Pluto Trade Day Trader capabilities, is a completely automated, experimental day trading experience. Users can directly stake the bot and benefit from the trading profits of the bot.

Frequently asked questions

How do I know if the bot is making profitable trades?

You can check the performance of the bot on your user dashboard. All trades made by the bot will be listed at the end of the trading day and a full history of all trades made by the trading bot are available.

Is the bot available for mobile use?

Yes, the bot is available for mobile use. The Pluto Trade AI platform is cloud-based, which means that no hardware is necessary to use the bot. This makes it easy to access the platform from anywhere, at any time, as long as you have an internet connection.

How does the bot handle market volatility?

The Pluto Trade AI is designed to handle market volatility by using a combination of technical analysis tools, including RSI, MACD, and Fibonacci Retracement, as well as advanced machine learning algorithms. These tools are used to analyze market trends and predict future price movements, which allows the bot to make informed trades even during periods of high volatility.

The bot also has built-in risk management features that help to minimize the impact of market volatility on trading performance. These features include stop loss orders, which automatically close a trade when it reaches a certain level of loss, and take profit orders, which automatically close a trade when it reaches a certain level of profit.
